Gerhard Petzl, pastry chef at Cucina Toscana, won the Grand America's First Annual Gingerbread House Competition. Houses made by 10 local pastry chefs were displayed at the hotel as part of a silent auction benefitting the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation. Petzl's Victorian-inspired house sold for $1,400. It featured 1,500 gingerbread shingles and 15 poured and hand-piped windows. He used 35 pounds of gingerbread, 40 pounds of icing sugar, 6,000 mini-marshmallows and 1 tablespoon edible gold flakes. Second place went to Greg and Julie Neville of Lugano's restaurant.
